Wilmington lost yesterday's game to Durham, thereby clinching her position at the bottom of the ladder. Durham played a good game and won out by a score of 9 to 5. The visitors batted Hooker freely and at times hard. Two home runs were gotten off his delivery. Foster, behind the bat caught fair game, but his arm was like glass when it came to throwing to bases. His work was the home team's weakest point.

Rea played the best game for Wilmington. His catch of a long drive up against left field fence and pulling down a line ball, which would have been good for a double against any good fielder, were easily the features of the game. Dannehower pitched good ball for Durham.

The following is a detailed report of the game:

DEATH FROM HIS WOUNDS.

Negro Shot in Wallace's Alley Saturday Night Died Sunday Afternoon.

John Howe, the negro who was shot Saturday night in Wallace's alley, reference to which was made in Sunday's STAR, died Sunday afternoon at the City Hospital whither he was taken by the police soon after the fracas.

A coroner's inquest was held yesterday morning over the body and the verdict was that deceased came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by Sam Simmons. The jury was composed of Dr. W. W. Lane (foreman,) J. M. Hall (secretary,) L. B. Bordeaux, Dr. E. J. Wood, J. A. Arnold and Capt. A. E. Wingfield. The verdict was reached after the examination of five witnesses of the shooting, and after hearing Drs. W. D. McMillan, Asa Love and E. J. Nixon, who held an autopsy upon the body.

The negro Simmons has been employed as a fireman at the Cape Fear Lumber Company's mill. Saturday night the deceased negro with two companions came to his house in the alley described and offered insults to his wife, Eliza Simmons, with whom the husband was sitting on the piazza. Simmons remonstrated with Howe, who was drunk, about his conduct, Howe at length engaged in an affray with Simmons, who went into his house, procured a pistol and shot him as stated in Sunday's paper.

Simmons is a Charlotte negro, and as he has evaded arrest thus far it is believed that he has gone there. Dr. Price, the coroner, has issued a capias for him.

HON. R. B. GLENN TO-NIGHT.

Large Crowd Should Hear Him on Seventh and Market Street.

Hon. R. B. Glenn, of Winston, should be heard by a very large crowd at corner of Seventh and Market streets to-night. Those who heard him in the Opera House here just prior to the memorable election of 1898 will remember the forceful and eloquent way in which his thoughts were expressed and it will be a pleasure to them to hear his exposition of the Constitutional Amendment now the adoption of which means so much to the people of the East. As stated in Sunday's paper there will be seats for all in the tournament grand stand and the ladies especially are asked to be present upon the occasion. From Wilmington Mr. Glenn goes to Whiteville on Wednesday; Ashpole, Robeson county, on Thursday, Laurinburg on Friday, Sanford, on Saturday and to Wadesboro on the Monday following.

Grateful To Chief Schnibben.

In addition to the letter of appreciation to the Wilmington people for their hospitality during the Firemen's Tournament published in another column, Capt. James D. McNeill, as Chief of the Fayetteville Department has written to Chief Charles Schnibben a personal letter congratulating him and his associates on the splendid success made of the event and thanking him personally for his many courtesies and for the universal kindness extended to all the visitors. In concluding the letter Capt. McNeill says in speaking of the Wilmington Fire Department: "You all made a 'ten strike' by your courteous action in not entering any of the contests for prizes as you thereby convinced your guests that you were hosts in fact as well as in name."

An adjourned meeting of Wilmington Lodge, No. 532 B. P. O. E., will be held to-night at 8.30 o'clock in Pythian Castle Hall. There are several candidates for initiation and visiting brothers are cordially invited to attend.

FROM SCOTLAND COUNTY.

The Way the Good People There Feel About the Impending Campaign. The Seawell Incident.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

LAURINBURG, N. C., July 16.—Scotland county may now be written down very near the top of the White Roll of Honor which will be perfected when all the returns are in. The determination of the white men in 1898 may not be so continuously manifest to the casual observer this year, but deep down in their hearts it is written, and it only needs some incident to bring it out. Some time ago our negro paper, in a very cheap effort to be facetous, made some references to white people in a social way which was characteristic of the negro, and very disgusting to white people. The editor was waited on and advised (!) never to print the name of another white woman in his columns. He will not. He was also advised to make his business arrangements so that he could leave this community before he should do something that would bring about his expulsion instanter.

The Seawell episode was not the result of a personal difficulty, as one of your correspondents had it; but the calm, determined action of more than two hundred men who represent the best business, social, educational and professional citizenship of this town and surrounding country, acting in concert and according to a prearranged plan to pass Seawell along as surely and as quietly as possible. Seawell's return to the train was accelerated by some who thought he moved too slowly, which he seemed anxious to turn into a personal difficulty and make it appear that the whole matter was simply "a little personal matter," but it was well that he heeded the advice given that he get back on the train.

The people of Scotland county have not forgotten that there was a time when the only Justice of the Peace in Laurinburg was a negro, and they will never forget that, later, when there were white Justices here, this negro magistrate issued a warrant for the (white) mayor of Laurinburg, upon the application of one of the meanest negros that ever lived here. They have not forgotten that this negro magistrate claimed, with show of truth, that he had the indorsement of Jeter C. Pritchard for the postmastership of this town!

"Lord God of host, be with us yet."

FIREMEN ARE GRATEFUL.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., July 16.

Editor Star—At the adjourned session of our convention, a committee was duly appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressive of our appreciation of the most cordial and hospitable manner in which the visiting firemen have been treated by the people of Wilmington, but it was the unanimous verdict of hundreds of firemen on the trains, homeward bound, that regulation resolutions were not in order, the occasion requiring something more expressive of our sincerity. The writer was therefore personally requested by scores of visitors from the Western and Middle sections especially, to try and express to your people our heart felt thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses and courtesies extended to us. Rest assured that we will never forget them and the pleasant memories of 1900 will remain with us for all time. We have been honored and treated handsomely in the past, but we feel that it is no reflection upon others when we say that the 1900 meeting is the most pleasant of all previous ones and that all records have been broken.

The local attractions of your lovely city in themselves were calculated to make the occasion a most pleasant one, but our chief pleasure existed in the hearty welcome that we received from every one. To the press we are extremely grateful for their courteous mention and to the able reports of the convention, thereby keeping our friends at home fully advised of our daily records.

The boys will never forget Wilmington and her generous and courteous citizenship.

With personal thanks to your staff, I am, yours,
JAMES D. MCNEILL,
Pres. N. C. S. F. Ass'n.

BOYS' BRIGADE ENCAMPMENT

First Battalion of State in Camp at Southport—Having a Royal Time from the Beginning.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

SOUTHPORT, CAMP "WORTH," July 16.—Upon the arrival of the boys Saturday they found the camp in great shape to receive them, the squad under Capt. Price having done some very efficient work. As soon as the boys got things straight, they got down to hard work; battalion drill at 3.30 P. M. was a cracker jack and dress parade. Well, the officers from the fort say they are not far ahead of us. The guard detail went on at 8 o'clock Saturday night; Capt. Price, Co. A, officer of the day; Sergeant Ramsey, Co. A, officer of the guard.

The boys are hard to hold in camp when the girls begin to assemble on the garrison. At present taps sound at 9 o'clock and the boys don't have long to chat with the fair damsels who congregate on the garrison every evening after supper. The boys are making splendid headway. In fact some of the cases have already assumed a very serious aspect, especially "Capt. Pat," who is the luckiest "guy" in the camp.

Yesterday (Sunday) was a day to be long remembered. Most of the boys attended the Methodist Church in the morning by themselves, but Sunday night every boy had a girl. We have heard it said that more couples of young people were in the church last night than ever before. After church the "garrison" was full of "pairs and peaches."

Capt. Price is a very warm number; he is very fond of hot things, especially "Pepper,"

Corporal Russ arrived on the 11.30 boat to-day, to stay a few days. He says it was impossible to get his wife's permission to stay longer. He has our sympathy.

"Nigger Bill" has been roped several times, but as yet has made no choice. All the girls are after him. They say he looks so angelic.

SHOWING THE NECESSITY OF IT.

The opponents of the Constitutional Amendment have been denouncing it as a political scheme to give the Democrats control of North Carolina. If by Democrats they mean white people they are right, but that isn't exactly what they mean. Democrat and white in the South are convertible terms, but the white-skinned Republicans in North Carolina call themselves white men, and they want to control the State by using the negro vote to do it. That is why they are opposing white supremacy and the Constitutional Amendment, which would put the State under the control of its real white people and make that control permanent.

But if it was ever a mere scheme to give the Democrats control of the State it has passed that stage now, and has become an absolute necessity, in comparison with which the ascendency of any political party is dwarfed into insignificance, for the defeat of the amendment would practically be the triumph not merely of the Republican party over the Democratic party, but the triumph of the negro over the white man—a triumph not by ballots only, but by bulldozing methods which would encourage the negro to become more assertive and aggressive.

When the Radical opponents and the few assistants they have in the Populist party struck on the bulldozing plan and began to teach their ignorant followers to use clubs and shotguns to obtain their "rights," they presented one of the best and strongest of all the good and strong arguments for the amendment that have been advanced since this discussion of the amendment began. By that act they have divided people into two parties; one composed of the thoughtful, conservative, law-abiding people, and the other of an incendiary, revolutionary, law-defying mob, who in their desire to hold power and office appeal to the passions of their semi-savage followers, and urge them to a course, the result of which would be strife, not with ballots but with bullets, with the usual ending when race is pitted against race. We all know what that is.

We had some experience of this kind in this part of the State two years ago, which presented an object lesson that had a good effect throught the State, but the incendiary office hunters are now doing their utmost to make the negro mob forget that, and to forget that they will be the greatest sufferers in the event they provoke the white men to resort to heroic treatment to protect themselves and their communities from brutal offensiveness.

These fellows who by their incendiary speeches are egging on their ignorant following to deeds of violence are playing with fire and the only way to prevent the evil consequences that may result and prevent this same kind of playing at each recurring election is to remove the material with which they play by taking the ignorant, easily duped and misled element out of the political domain and thus make it harmless. It has always been an element of friction and strife in our elections and always will be, especially when led by a class of so-called white men who morally are but little, if any, elevated above this mob. Strictly speaking they are not morally as good, for some of them have had the advantages of education and association with good classes of people, and they know that they are doing nefarious work when they are deluding and influencing to violence the credulous, ignorant mob that follows them. They are the plotters of the mischief; they know just what they are doing, and what the results of their teaching may be, and are, therefore, to be condemned and held to more accountability than the dupes they lead and instigate to devilment.

Excited by these inflammatory speeches and bad advice the negroes in some localities, where they are numerous enough to feel saucy, are showing a very offensive and aggressive disposition, and have been guilty of some assaults on white men, more threats of violence and vengeance, and on several occasions serious conflicts have been averted simply because the negroes had discovered that the white men were on the alert and were prepared for emergencies that might arise. Then they concluded that prudence would be the better part of valor, and the trouble didn't come. But it may come any time for there are impatient, excitable white men as well as misled, excitable negroes, and a few of these might at any time precipitate a conflict that might become a very serious business before ending, and the cold-blooded, self-seeking white conspirators who are egging the negroes on know this.

But this is an old story. It has happened more or less in every campaign we have had in this State, and will continue to happen while there is this element in politics for self-seeking scoundrels to play with. To secure the peace and the quiet of the State, and make them permanent by the elimination of this devilish element and its no less disorderly and brutal leadership from politics, the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment has become a matter of imperative necessity.

SOME GOOD ADVICE FROM COLORED TEACHERS.

Mr. Chas. H. Mebane, Superintendent of Public Instruction, elected by the Fusionists, was invited to address the colored teachers at the Normal in Fayetteville, but being unable he sent the following letter:

"NEWTON, N. C., July 9, 1900.

"Prof. E. E. Smith, Fayetteville, N. C.

"DEAR SIR:—I wish to send through you to the Colored Teachers at the Normal my sincere regrets on account of my inability to attend the meeting and address them. Circumstances have been and are such that it is entirely out of the question for me to get there.

"I want to say as a parting word to you teachers that I have done what I could (though little it be) for you during my term of office. I have and do realize that your responsibility is a great one.

"Would that I could burn it into the heart and conscience of each colored teacher that in a very large measure the future of the negro race is largely in the hands of the colored teachers; what this race is to be, mentally, morally and socially, largely depends upon the teachers.

"I would have you inculcate habits of industry and economy.

"It was charged on the stump in this county on Friday that your race was in a worse condition now after all the State has done for you in education than your condition was in time of slavery.

"I do not believe that to educate the negro makes a fool of him.

"I admit to give a certain kind of instruction to him makes a fool of him, but to give him sound, wholesome instruction; teach him obedience to law and order; teach him a high standard of morality; teach him to do right and to know what is right, makes a man or a woman of him or her and not a fool, as some would have us believe.

"Teach your people to be true to those who are their friends in times of necessity and want. Teach them not to be led about by designing men and women for the personal gain of said designer.

"Teach them to be honest, sober, decent, upright men and women.

"Teach them to avoid the modern politician as they would the devil himself. One thing has been clearly demonstrated in the South, to-wit, that the negro who dabbles in politics brings ruin and destruction to his people. He may get a few dollars into his (the leaders') pocket, but alas for his colored followers.

"Finally, teach them to be God-fearing men and women and to endeavor to do all they can for the moral elevation of their own people wherever they find them.

"There are many other things that I would have said if I could have reached your place, but if you will put into practice these in your teachings, great good will follow your labors.

"Yours, very truly,
"C. H. MEBANE,
"Supt. Pub. Inst."

This advice would be pertinent at any time, but it is especially so now. There are some points in it the force and application of which ought to strike not only the teachers but every negro with sense enough to understand the meaning of plain, simple words.

"Teach them not to be led about by designing men and women for the personal gain of said designer."

"Teach them to avoid the modern politician as they would the devil himself."

Is there any negro simple enough not to see the point in these two paragraphs? They have been humbugged times without number by designing men and women who have gotten their hard earnings out of them under various pretences, and ever since their enfranchisement they have been whipped around and made tools of by self-seeking politicians, while not one in ten thousand has ever been gainer by it in the slightest degree. These politicians are fooling them now as they have been doing year after year, and they do not realize it and neither do the teachers whom Mr. Mebane addresses seem to. Instead of avoiding the modern politician as they would the devil, they run to him, and he whoops them up like the devil and works them like the devil, and gets them into a devil of a lot of trouble sometimes.

DODGING THE TRUST QUESTION.

The Republican organs are trying to subordinate or rather ignore the trust question by asserting that there have been trusts under both Democratic and Republican administrations, and that the Democrats are as responsible for them as the Republicans. The Washington Post is an independent paper, and a protection paper besides. In commenting upon an article in the Philadelphia Inquirer headed "Democrats and Ice," it exposes this fraudulent assumption as follows:

"That is the title of a brief and breezy editorial in the Philadephia Inquirer. The article was suggested by the Lock Haven Democrat's remark that 'when McKinley went into office trusts were comparatively few.' The Inquirer responds:

"'Is that so? Then history must be all wrong, for history tells us that trusts grew and flourished under Cleveland, and that his Attorney General never opened his mouth against them. It remained for the McKinley administration, under the same law that Cleveland could have evoked, to go into court and break up the railroad trust.

"'But what is the use of the Democrats talking about trusts? When you catch one at it all you have to do is to say 'ice!' That ends them.

"'Nevertheless, that Lock Haven paper told the truth. Although there were trusts under both Republican and Democratic administrations long before President McKinley came in, they were 'comparatively few'—positively and notoriously few as compared with the number now in existence. The era of prosperity inaugurated under the present administration has been thus far the era of trusts and combines. It may be that some of them have been promotive of prosperity; it is certain that some of them have fattened on increased cost of commodities to the consumers.

"'The records of the offices of the secretaries of state for New Jersey, Delaware and West Virginia show the truth of the Lock Haven Democrat's assertion. All the trusts that 'grew and flourished under Cleveland,' as they did under Arthur and Harrison, including sugar and Standard Oil, were almost insignificant in comparison with the vast aggregations of capital and water that have been organized since Cleveland went out.

"'The sneer at Tammany's ice trust is no answer to the charge that the Republican party has failed to do its duty in this matter. Tammany is a local institution—a local disgrace, if you will—and its ice trust exploit is a local infamy. If the Inquirer will carefully examine President McKinley's last annual message it will see that he painted the monopolistic combines in their true colors and asked Congress to deal with them. And if the Inquirer will study the proceedings of Congress it will discover that Congress neither did nor tried nor intended to do anything inimical to any of them. There is where the Democrats have an advantage, and it cannot be disposed of by sneering at a local excrescence which disgraces New York. It may happen that the great and all-pervading prosperity will weaken the force of the trust issue, but that will not excuse the neglect of Congress nor relieve the dominant party of responsibility for that neglect."

A short time ago young Mr. Thaw, of Pittsburg, won some notoriety in Paris by two swell dinners. He gave the first to a party of masculine nabobs, and the second which he called a "beauty banquet," given to a number of handsome women. That cost about $50,000. Now Mr. Elkins, a Philadelphia millionaire, has knocked Thaw out with a much sweller dinner, to twenty-five guests. The table decorations alone cost $10,000 and everything else in proportion. So far Pennsylvania takes the cake for first-class idiots who aspire to notoriety.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided the surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It is positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles, and never disappoints. Price 50c at R. R. BELLAMY'S druggist. †

GRADY REPLIES TO PORTER.

BURGAW, N. C., July 14, 1900.

MR. EDITOR: Since the appearance of Dr. Porter's card in the STAR to-day it becomes necessary to defend myself and many of the best Democrats of Pender from the false charge of being bolters and disorganizers which is wholly untrue and a base slander upon the democracy of our County. I will give briefly a few facts concerning his indorsement for the Senate.

Dr. Porter, who was Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of this County, and Bruce Williams, Secretary, called a County convention to meet in February for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Convention. Some of the largest Democratic townships in the county were not notified to hold primaries and elect delegates to the convention, or if so, such notices were never received. If a full representation of the democracy of each township had been present he would not have received the endorsement of it. A brother-in-law of Dr. Porter was in the convention and cast the vote of two voting precincts for Dr. Porter while the chairman of that township never had any notice of a primary or county convention. There were only about a dozen men (delegates) present at the convention. To the surprise of the people of our county and many of the delegates in that convention a resolution was intreduced by Bruce Williams endorsing Dr. Porter for the Senate. After much wrangling the chair declared the resolution carried by one vote.

It has been the custom of our county and in accordance with the Democratic plan of Organization to nominate a candidate for the Senate at the regular County Convention to nominate candidates for the County Offices and the Legislature.

This action of attempting to endorse a Senator at this unusual time, when the full Democracy of our county was not represented and when it was not known that he was a candidate was unfair and a surprise to every one and at once a howl began which lasted until our appearance at the Warsaw Convention. The charge of Dr. Porter that my friends and I were bolters and disorganizers is maliciously false. The men who went to Warsaw from this county in opposition to Porter were true, tried and loyal Democrats who did not feel that they could consistently support a man who had not proved faithful to the nominees of the party.

Dr. Porter says: "I could have been nominated on the first ballot but being an old man and living above personal prejudices and political aspirations I relinquished my claim to the nomination." This is untrue. The Pender delegates were divided between Dr. Porter and myself. Duplin was solid against Porter. Wayne suggested that in order to harmonize matters both withdraw. I submitted a proposition to Dr. Porter that we both withdraw and let our delegates name a man. This he refused.

The Convention then organized and at the suggestion of a delegate from Wayne a committee of six, two from each county was appointed to harmonize matters and recommend some course for the convention to pursue.

Before this committee retired I addressed the convention and for the sake of peace and harmony renewed my propositin to the convention and to Dr. Porter that both withdraw. He again refused and appealed to the Convention not to defeat him. The committee then retired and soon sent for Dr. Porter and myself to appear before it, and they recommended that we both withdraw and let our delegation name a man. To this I again consented and Dr. Porter refused. He then agreed to withdraw provided he be allowed to name the man. This was objected to. It was suggested that we both withdraw and each name a man to be submitted to the Convention. To this he agreed but I objected and insisted that as neither of us were delegates we should not ask to name the man and that our delegation only had that power. The matter was finally left with the Pender delegates who submitted two names to the Convention. Mr. J. T. Foy was nominated on the first ballot receiving the divided vote of Wayne, the solid vote of Duplin, and two thirds of Pender. It was best for the party that Mr. Foy was nominated and he will receive the unanimous support of all democrats in the County. R. G. GRADY.

— Senator Hoar says the Democratic party has never been right on any point of late. Go slow, Senator; Democracy has been with you on anti-expansion, and it is not to the discredit of Democracy that it cannot change as fast as you do—great bodies move slowly. If you were correct then, it is right now; if you were wrong then, how can we trust your judgment now? We appeal from Hoar under the party lash to Hoar, when he argued lake a man and stood up for his opinion like a free American citizen.—Jacksonville (Fla) Times Union and Citizen, Dem.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Rocky Mount Argonaut: The wheat crop in Nash county has been very good this year; cotton is looking spendid; corn is as good as we have ever seen, but tobacco is poor As a general thing the stand is very irregular and the leaf small and narrow. This, with the small acreage planted, will bring our tobacco crop down to a very small proportion.

— Durham Sun: E C. Hackney has recently lost five fine hogs from a peculiar cause. The hogs have been fed on slops that were procured at some of the restaurants in the city. In the slops were chicken feathers, and this caused the death of the porkers which swallowed them. One of the hogs would have tipped the scales in the neighborhood of three hundred pounds.

— Greenville Reflector: Will Page, the negro who assaulted Mrs. Joe Everett, near Oakley on Thursday, was taken before S. A. Gainer, justice of the peace at Bethel, and given a trial He was bound over to September court and brought here Friday evening and put in jail. Since the negro has been in jail he has admitted the charge and says that Mrs. Everett told the whole truth.

— Charlotte News: The big tree in "Boss" Sanders' yard has furnished interesting food for guessers. There are various estimates on its age, size and amount of wood it will make. 'Squire McCord says the rings on the tree show it to be 135 years old. The estimates of cord wood that it will make run from 6 to 20 cords. Mr. Sanders will have a mantle and table made from some of the wood.

— Fayetteville Observer: Burglars operated on on extensive scale in Hope Mills early Saturday morning, and carried off a lot of plunder, though nothing of any great value. The following houses were entered and robbed of various articles: Mr. Jesse Newton's, Mr. Z. B. Newton's, Mr. Jas. H. Johnson's, (hotel) Mrs. Martha Bullard's, and Sam Jones' barber shop. The latter was probably the heaviest loser, the burglars carrying $25 worth of tools, etc. Few of the residents of Hope Mills lock their doors at night, and it was in this way that the thieves made their entries, and with out waking the occupants, who only discovered the fact this morning. The burglars were barefooted, as their tracks clearly showed. There is no clue so far as to the bold perpetrators.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Is England really a factor in the Chinese situation? There is no apparent reason why a nation that has failed to whip an army of 50,000 men in eight months need be a factor in anything much.—Norfolk Virginia Pilot, Dem.

The report that the Chinese insurgents are being led by Europeans officers does not surprise us. There are now, as there have been in every period of the world's history, soldiers of fortune who will fight for whatever cause offers most pay or the brightest bribes to unscupulous ambition. And this disreputable list contains the names of the greatest military genuises that the world has ever seen.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

— President McKinley's reply to the speech formally announced to him the news of his renomination is smooth and smug, but not impressive. When he talks on honor and duty the words have a reminiscent unpleasantness of interpretation. With President McKinley they sometimes meall one thing on Tuesday and another thing on Wednesday. He intends, no doubt, to be honorable and to do his duty every day; but he is weak and at the mercy of advisers who measure honor and duty by the standard of political expediency.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

— A Political Boss: "They say you are merely a political boss," said the candid informant. "Great Scott!" ejaculated Senator Sorghum. "The irreverence of these moderns is something disheartening. Why, that's all Julius Cæsus was."—Washington Star.

"These are genuine Havana cigars," said the connoisseur. "Oh," said the man who likes to be of importance, "and here are some genuine Havana postage stamps." "What's interesting about them?" "Nothing, except the fact that they are genuine."—Washington Star.

— "How much will your opinion in this case be worth?" asked the prospective client. "I can't tell you how much it will be worth," answered the lawyer who is accustomed to make fine distictions, "but I can tell you how much I am going to charge you for it."—Washington Star.

— His Little Joke: In wandering near the sea rocks at St. Helena Gen. Cronje picked up a piece of broken glass. "What is this?" inquired the General. "It looks like a piece of lamp shade," responded his wife. "H'm! perhaps it is the shade of Napoleon!" One hour later the English guards saw the joke and grinned.—Chicago News.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Early events on the Cotton Exchange were exciting and thoroughly disheartening to the bull forces which suffered severely in Saturday's selling movement. Nearly all the influences bearing upon the market were again against price improvement. In view of the heavy decline and enormous unloading on that day, the bulls looked for a natural reaction this morning. But the cables were weak, the crop news good and the weather reports nearly all that could be desired. Moreover, the news from China was such as to prevent fresh investment buying for outside account. With Liverpool futures down 5½ to 6½ points and spot cotton off ½c. our market opened easy with July two points higher, but deliveries two to nine lower. There was a slight further decline immediately after the call and then a brief hesitation, followed by a sharp rise in keeping with the tendency of the prices abroad. But before mid day the market had developed fresh weakness and under heavy selling for both accou ts dropped rapidly to the lowest level of the morning, a net decline of eight to ten points. Europe sold large amounts of Summer months cotton here and the South sold the new crop positions. Predictions that to morrow's government crop report and weather statement would be a most decided bearish argument helped to weaken sentiment in bull quarters. The short time policy of Fall River mills was regarded as but a temporary relief for the congested cloth situation at home, while Southern mills reported a superabundance of raw material and manufactured goods with few orders. During the early afternoon the market was speculatively flat and featureless and the late phases were not specially interesting. The close was steady, with prices net three to eight points lower.

HUMAN SACRIFICES.

MODERN RELIGIOUS FANATICS WHO BELIEVE IN THEM.

Many Peculiar Sects In the Old World. Particularly In Russia, Whose Members Kill and Crucify That Salvation May Be Attained.

That human sacrifices have been made even in the nineteenth century, and by professing Christians, too, is brought out by The American Journal of Sociology in a striking article:

The Convulsionists, a sect existing in Paris about 1760, were wont to crucify members of their order, in emulation of the crucifixion of the Saviour, in the belief that the souls of the surviving members would be saved by the sacrifices of their fellows. In 1817 the "Paschelians," an Austrian sect, murdered a man, his wife and daughter under the delusion that the trio, who refused to go with the fanatics, were possessed of the devil. On the following day they crucified one of their own number, a girl of 19 years, who had suffered herself for the death, in imitation of the death of the Saviour, in order to save the souls of her fellow believers.

In 1823 the leader of a Pietistic circle in Switzerland, after having dispatched her sister, who gave her life as a means of saving the souls of her relatives, was crucified by her followers at her own command in order that she might die, rise again after three days and restore to life the sister she had slain. In 1865 two mothers, adherents of the "Holy Men," slew their sick children, believing them to be victims of demoniacal possession. In 1875 a Hungarian miller, belonging to the "Nazarenes," killed his son as an offering for his own sins after the fashion of Abraham. In 1870, in Irkutsk, Russia, one of the "Schismatics" convinced himself by prayer and fasting and much Scripture reading that to save his soul he must be crucified. Accordingly he attempted self crucifixion and succeeded so far as the circumstances of the case would permit.

In 1830, in the government of Perm, Russia, a peasant killed his child as an offering for sin and buried the body in an ant hill. Likewise, in the government of Vladimir, another peasant killed both his children in due Abrahamic form, and while the babies bled under the father's knife the devout mother celebrated the service by reading aloud selected portions of the twenty-second chapter of Genesis. In 1854, in the government of Tambov, Russia, a peasant, convinced that to save his soul a man must have a sin to repent of, killed a neighbor with an ax in order to satisfy this highly imperative condition.

It is a part of the creed of the "Wanderers," a Russian sect, that anti-Christ rules in high places there and that accordingly good men must have naught to do with governmental affairs of any sort. In conformity with this belief a man murdered in various ingenious ways 25 men, women and children, including his own wife and babies, in order to free them from the danger of losing their souls by suffering the contaminating contact of the government census taker. This occurred in 1897.

The "Deniers," another quite interesting Russian sect, believe that evil taints all earthly good and that the only escape is death. In 1825 60 of these men, strong in the faith, after having murdered their wives and children, permitted themselves to be put to death, one by one, by their leaders. The "Scourgers," who also form a widespread and influential sect in Russia, in obedience to the behests of their "saviors," are in the habit of indulging in human sacrifices, cannibalistic feasts, erotic dances and other lewd procedures as an extremely efficacious method of keeping the hand of evil from off their immortal souls. So the "Muckers" of Konigsberg and the celebrants of the black mass in Paris afford further examples of the use of a ritual of erotism, coupled with a practice of the most abandoned and obscene behavior, to promote the eternal welfare of the soul.

SCORPIONS AND FIRE.

The Poisonous Animals Are Particularly Sensitive to Heat.

An interesting question has from time to time been discussed by naturalists and physiologists, as to whether the scorpion commits suicide by stinging himself with his own venomous dart. Experiments have often been made, which consist in surrounding the scorpion with a circle of fire, usually formed of small pieces of burning coals.

One may then see the animal agitate his tail in the air, waying his dart to and fro over his head in a desperate movement and finally fall dead, appearing to have decided that he could not escape the flames and to have inoculated himself with his own venom. This idea is now, however, found to be erroneous, as it has been proved that the scorpion is not affected by his own venomous fluid, and the hypothesis of his suicide cannot be maintained. It appears from later observations made upon the death of the scorpion under the conditions in question that a more simple explanation is to be found.

Scorpions are, in fact, sensitive to heat and are easily killed by a temperature not exceeding 50 degrees centigrade. If one concentrate the solar rays upon a scorpion's back by means of a lens, one may observe that he tries by means of his tail to remove the cause of discomfort. It is this movement of defense which has hitherto been mistaken for one of suicide, and in reality the scorpion has been killed by the heat to which he has been exposed under such circumstances.—Scientific American.

Zulu Servants.

The Zulu boy servants are much appreciated in Africa, but they have difficulties with the English language. Their special weakness is the confusion of the letters "l" and "r." As a result, instead of saying that "Breakfast is ready" they announce, to the astonishment of the stranger, "Blackfaced lady, baas."

They make excellent servants. One particularly faithful boy was always very careful as to whom he admitted into the house. One day three visitors called, none of whom had come without a card. He ushered the first two into the drawing room, but insisted on the other staying in the hall. "Two misses," he explained, "got ticket; you got no ticket; you wait outside!"

The wise boy knew quite well that he himself wouldn't be allowed in a saloon without a ticket. Why, then, should he admit white ladies?—Household Words.

Doubled Him Up.

A prominent western clergyman, W. W. White by name, was a member of a learned society in which there were several members who were fond of quibbling. During a speech he had been annoyed by their interruptions almost beyond the point of endurance. At last he said, "I trust I will not be troubled again until my speech is finished."

Before he could begin another sentence one of his chief tormenters arose and said, slowly and solemnly:

"Oh, doctor double-u, double-u, double-u,
We love to trouble you, trouble you, trouble you."

The doctor sat down.—Kansas City Independent.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 17, 1900.

THE FEELING IN GERMANY.

Sorrow and Indignation at the Massacre in Pekin—The Alleged Agreement of the Powers.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BERLIN, July 16.—The news regarding the massacre at Pekin has been received by the German press with a unanimous expression of deepest sorrow and indignation. The whole nation seems imbued with similar sentiments. Emperor William was immediately notified.

The number of Germans massacred at Pekin is said to be ninety-three.

With reference to contradictory statements as to alleged agreements between various powers concerning the future of China, a Foreign office official said to day nothing like a definite agreement, either oral or written, existed between Germany and Russia, but that such an agreement does exist between Russia and Great Britain in assigning to each a distinct sphere.

"Although England," said the official, "has several times complained since the agreement was made, Russia apparently has not felt strictly bound by it. Germany, for her part, as Russia knows, will not object if Russia monopolizes Manchuria."

Lord Gough, secretary of the British embassy, made the following statement to the correspondent of the Associated Press this afternoon:

"The Pekin massacre does not render it necessary for the powers to abandon the position that they are not at war with China. The powers will continue to claim that their action there is in behalf of the deposed government and only against rebels and usurpers. There are many precedents for such a course, particularly the action of the United States government toward the Brazilian revolutionists."

A member of the Japanese embassy said to-day:

"Japan has not sought a mandate from the powers, and will not accept the role of mandatory unless requested to do so by all. In the event of accepting, Japan would not ask territory as compensation. Japan is fully in accord with the other powers respecting the future."

The official in question said that he accepted the report of the massacre as well founded and gave his reasons. Referring to the force Japan now has in China, he said that the Mikado's there already numbered 22,000, but that these were insufficient for an effective advance upon Pekin, as no fewer than 100,000 men would be necessary, especially in view of the absolute need of keeping open communications with the coast.

Urges That Troops Be Withdrawn from the Philippines and a Large Army Thrown Into China.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—General Miles had an extended conference this afternoon with the Secretary of War concerning the dispatch of reinforcements to China. No statement could be secured as to the result of the conference. But it is understood that General Miles very strongly urged that troops be immediately withdrawn from the Philippines so that a large army could be thrown into China within comparatively a few days, instead of awaiting the slow process of assembling an army in this country and Cuba, and then getting it to China. The troops in the Philippines could make the trip across to China in about a week, while the dispatch of troops from this country will take considerably more than a month and the men hardly can be on the field until September.

Notwithstanding General Miles' recommendation the apparent policy is to forward the troops to China from this country and Cuba as fast as they can be assembled.

With the sending of eight thousand or ten thousand men provision doubtless will be made for an officer of high rank to take command of this force. General Miles has recommended that Major General Bates, who commanded a brigade with credit in Cuba, be placed in command. He is now in the Philippines and could readily reach the field of action. The disposition, however, is toward sending an officer from this country, and as the conditions are so rapidly expanding General Miles is frequently referred to as likely to assume command of the American forces in the Orient.

A SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

Friendly Chinese Officials Killed by Order of Prince Tuan.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A report has reached official Chinese quarters here of a shocking tragedy in Pekin not heretofore shown in any of the reports from China. This appears in a paper printed in the Chinese text and although it is in no ways official, and may be a part of the exaggerated gossip of the situation, it has none the less attracted the attention of the Chinese minister here. According to this Chinese report, three thousand Chinese officials of Pekin, engaged in the government service, united in a petition to Prince Tuan to spare the foreigners and afford them every protection. In response to this, according to the Chinese report, Prince Tuan ordered that those who had united in the petition be killed and the order was thereupon carried out.

NOT A STATE OF WAR WITH CHINA.

The Attitude of the Administration at Washington on the Chinese Question.

WILL NOT HOLD ITS HAND.

Determined to Inflict Adequate Punishment Upon the Chinese—Will Send Additional Troops to Operate With the Allied Forces.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The decision of the administration at the end of a most eventful day, is that the United States government is still not at war with the government of China. The big happenings at Tien Tsin, coming on top of the stories of the last struggles at Pekin have not affected the attitude of the administration on this point. The United States and China are technically at peace; but this statement should not be accepted as indicating a purpose on the part of the United States government to hold its hand in the administration of swift and adequate punishment upon the Chinese without regard to station, who may be responsible for the outrages of the past few weeks. It means that the United States government feels it can accomplish that purpose by regarding the status officially as one of peace. To hold otherwise would seriously cripple the government in its effort to obtain satisfaction for the outrages the Americans in China have suffered. We should find the ports of China now opened to us closed, and all sorts of impediments would be encountered which now are missing. Therefore, according to the administration's new view a declaration of war would afford not even a technical gain, while it would be actually a heavy drawback. Chairman Cannon, of the House Appropriations Committee, is authority for the statement that money in plenty is at the disposal of the President in the emergency, and that there is no necessity for a called session of Congress on that score.

Special Cabinet Meeting.

The day was the most exciting Washington has known since the battle of Santiago. At the very beginning came Admiral Remey's cablegram announcing the defeat of the allied forces at Tien Tsin, and then came the vivid Associated Press account of the fight. A special cabinet meeting was held on receipt of this news, with such members present as are in town. Great reluctance was manifested on the part of the participants to answer questions as to the nature of the deliberations. The best indication of its nature was the departure for the White House of Secretary Hay immediately after the meeting. He sat down and had a long talk with President McKinley over the long-distance 'phone, and it soon became known that the President had decided that it would be best for him to come back from Canton to the national capital.

The cabinet officers talked over the possibilities of reinforcing the troops in China. There was no disposition shown to withhold troops; the only question was as to the amount of additional force available. That was a technical question, so it was left to the War Department officials to decide. The only point laid down was that the government would send forward all the troops that could be spared at this time. One question discussed by the cabinet appeared to have a very practical aspect about it.

An International Conference.

Technical men had made objection to the further conduct of the Chinese campaign with an international force without some working understanding as to the duties of each of the powers represented. It was suggested that a conference be called hastily at one of the capitals—London, Berlin, Paris or Washington—to define the part to be taken by each power and the quota of troops to be furnished by it and to arrange for the selection of a commander-in-chief of the allied forces.

This suggestion did not meet with a favorable reception It was felt by the cabinet that the United States should send what force it could dispose of to China as far as seemed necessary and should not make any agreement with other powers as to the number.

Available Force for China.

This decision involves the increase of the force of troops destined for China. The responsible officers evaded any specific statements as to the extent of this increase. It was, however, gathered that the reinforcements would be limited only by the ability of the government to spare troops from the commands now in the United States and Cuba The estimates varied as to how many could be spared, but the general opinion was that somewhere between 4,000 and 8,000 men could be shipped to the East from Cuba and the United States in addition to the troops already under orders. A statement prepared by Adjutant General Corbin shows that there are now a grand total of 10,665 officers and men in China, en route to China, en route to Nagasaki, or under orders for Nagasaki. This table of course includes the ill-fated Ninth infantry, which may not be in condition for further service. General Wood's last reports indicate that owing to the tranquility prevailing in Cuba it will be entirely safe to decrease the military force there quite largely. But even with these Cuban troops it will be necessary if the cabinet plans are carried out, to divest the home posts of garrisons, save in the case of the heavy artillery organizations at seacoast points.

Nine Thousand Men.

About all of the troops within the borders of the United States that would be available for Chinese service under a call are these regiments: The Second, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth cavalry regiments intact, one squadron each of the First and Sixth cavalry, the First, Tenth and Eleventh regiments of infantry complete, one battalion each of the Second, Fifth, Seventh, Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth infantry regiments, and three companies of the Twenty-fourth infantry.

This available force of cavalry and infantry aggregates about nine thousand men. Some artillery[undoubtedly would be sent, and these are light batteries K of the First artillery, A and F of the Second, C and F of the Third, B of the Fourth, D of the First and C and M of the Seventh available. There are besides companies C and D Engineers, and four companies of the Signal Corps.

Secretary Root's Views.

Secretary Root was reluctant to admit that there was any necessity for more American troops in China and at the close of the day he said that thus far he had received no orders for reinforcements. Continuing, he said that the regiments already slated for Chinese service, those now in China, and those now afloat, amount to 10,665 men of all arms. Secretary Root said that in view of the small standing army of the United States; of our insignificant force of field artillery as compared with that of the great European powers, and our lack of territorial interest in China, this 10,000 men represented more than the United States' pro rata share of the international force which is to operate against Pekin. The War Department, he said, so far has responded in full to every demand made upon it by the joint conference of foreign commanders in China. The situation has changed so rapidly from day to day as to alter the estimate of the foreign commanders several times. It is possible that the estimate of troops needed for Chinese services will be again increased. If so, the United States will respond. By scouring this country and denuding it of all regular troops, except a very few of the heavy artillery in charge of valuable seacoast guns and by making still further demands upon forces in Cuba and Porto Rico, we might possibly gather between three and four thousand additional troops. This, however, would be the limit unless the War Department disregarded a recommendation of General McArthur and drew still further on the available troops in the Philippines. This, however, was a future contingency which would not have to be met till it arose. Secretary Root expressed the hope that the first reports of the disastrous battle of the 13th at Tien Tsin might prove to be exaggerated, but the War Department, it was stated, had no official inmormation beyond that transmitted in Admiral Remey's cablegram of this morning.

General Miles was called upon by Secretary Root during the afternoon to counsel with him as to the projected troop movements. He favors the prompt dispatch of a large force to China.

A Misunderstanding.

A good deal of annoyance has been caused here by the complete misunderstanding that has been conveyed to the European nations as to the attitude of the United States government regarding the settlement of the Chinese troubles. This government, it can be stated authoritatively, never has thought of compromising for money or any other form of indemnity. Indeed, the subject of money indemnity or an apology never has been thought of or mentioned by the government of the United States. The government will insist on justice and retribution, according to the highest authority.

The War Department officials were unable to say who commands the Ninth infantry since the death of Colonel Liscum. The impression prevails that the lieutenant colonel of the regiment is ill at Manila and that the regiment, or what is left of it, will find its senior and consequently commanding officer in one of the captains. Incidentally it may be mentioned that through Colonel Liscum's death, Captain McCalla of the Newark, if ashore, is the ranking American officer.

Provided With Poison.

BERLIN, July 16.—The correspondent here of the Associated Press has received private information from London that a letter was received there from Lady Claude MacDonald (wife of the British ambassador at Pekin), written when the situation was growing threatening, saying that all the ladies of the legation had supplied themselves with poison.

The News in England.

LONDON, July 16, 5.30 P. M.—The Foreign Office has received no advices to-day from China. Although Lord Salisbury, the Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs, does not doubt that Sir Claude MacDonald, the British minister at Pekin, has been murdered, he has not yet taken any steps regarding international relations with China. There is no inclination at present to give the Chinese minister his passports. Lord Salisbury has seen or heard nothing of this functionary for several days, in fact not since his Lordship made the request that he transmit a message to Sir Claude MacDonald. The Chinese minister agreed, but nothing further has been heard of him. An official at the Foreign Office said to the Associated Press correspondent to-day: "We are still wondering whether we are at war with China. Till we ascertain, we cannot take any action against its diplomatic representative. The whole thing is so ghastly, soutterly unprecedented, that we are at a loss what course to follow except to send to China as many troops as we can spare.

Since the definite news of the massacre at Pekin has been received no communications have passed between the powers regarding the necessity for further action or the advisability of declaring war upon the Chinese government.

Contradicts Shanghai Story.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Consul General Goodnow cabled to the State Department from Shanghai, under to-day's date, that there is nothing more to report since his cablegram of the 13th inst. That dispatch reported the attack on the legations at Pekin as about to begin. Mr. Goodnow's statement is a direct contradiction of the Shanghai story that all foreign consuls were informed Saturday by Sheng that the legations had fallen and the ministers were killed.

The address arraigns the Republican party bitterly for its attitude toward "imperialism" and trusts, and urges all patriotic citizens to organize to preserve the institutions of the republic.

To-night, in the presence of 14,000 persons in Madison Square Garden, Terry McGovern, of Brooklyn, defeated Frank Erne, of Buffalo, light-weight champion of the world. BLOODY BATTLE AT TIEN TSIN.

AMERICANS WERE HARD HIT.

Loss Estimated at 25 Per Cent.—Col. Liscum, Commanding the Ninth Regiment, Killed—Other Casualties. Chinese Fought Desperately.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

TIEN TSIN, July 13, via Che Foo July 15 and Shanghai July 16.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon seven thousand of the allied troops were attempting to storm the wall of the city. The attack began at daylight. Its success is doubtful. The Chinese on the walls are estimated conservatively at 20,000. They are pouring terrific artillery, rifle and machine gun five upon the attackers. The Americans, Japanese, British and French troops are attacking from the west and the Russians east.

The Americans suffered terribly. As the Associated Press reporter left the field the chief surgeon of the Ninth infantry said a conservative estimate was that 25 per cent. of the Americans were hit. Colonel Emerson H. Liscum is reported to have been mortally wounded as he was walking in front of the troops. Major Regan and Captains Buck Miller, Wilcox and Noyes were among the wounded.

The marine losses include Capt. Davis killed, and Butler, Leonard and several others wounded.

Officers declared that it was hotter than Santiago.

When the correspondent left the Americans were lying in a plain between the wall and the river under an enfilading and a direct fire. It was equally difficult for them to advance or retire.

The correspondent counted three hundred wounded men of all nationalities.

Chinese Fought Desperately.

LONDON, July 16.—The Evening News prints a dispatch dated at Shanghai to day giving a detailed account of the attack of the allied forces on the native city of Tien Tsin, as reported in the dispatch to the Associated Press, dated at Tien Tsin, July 13th. According to the Evening News dispatch the allies were repulsed and compelled to retreat with a loss of more than one hundred killed, the British losing forty and the Japanese sixty. The Americans and Russians, it is added, also suffered heavily. Among the Americans killed were Colonel French of the Twenty-fifth infantry and Colonel Liscum of the Ninth infantry. A Russian colonel of artillery was also killed.

The dispatch adds that the Chinamen fought with great desperation and that their marksmanship was accurate and deadly.

Admiral Remey's Report.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Navy Department this morning received official confirmation from Admiral Remey of the reverse of the allied forces at Tien Tsin on the morning of the 13th. The dispatch is dated Che Foo, July 16th, and says:

"Reported that allied forces attacked native city morning 13th; Russians on the right with U. S. infantry and marines on the left, losses of the allied forces were large; Russians one hundred, including artillery colonel; American, over thirty; British, over forty; Japan, 58 including colonel; the French, twenty-five; Colonel Liscum, Ninth infantry, killed; also Captain Davis, marine corps, Captain Lemley, lieutenants Butler and Leonard wounded. At seven in the evening the allied attack on the native city was repulsed, with great loss. Returns yet incomplete; details not yet confirmed.

(Signed) "REMEY."

The report that Colonel French, of the Twenty-fifth infantry, was killed at Tien Tsin is not understood at the War Department here. Officials state positively that Colonel French is not in China. There is but one Cclonel French in the service and he commands the Twenty-second infantry, two battalions of which are in the Philippines and the third one in this country. On June 30th Colonel French was in New York on sick leave.

TO MARCH ON CHINA.

A Total of 80,000 Men Required—The American Contingent.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Sixty thousand men for the march to Pekin and 20,000 more to keep open the lines of communication, and if necessry to defend the bases of operation at Tien Tsin and Taku, is the estimate of the number of troops that will be required in the Chinese campaign. Upon the basis of these figures, which, it is said, are those of the commanders of the allied forces in China, the United States will furnish 10,000 or 12,000 soldiers. This is the number thought by the officers that we should furnish in the present emergency. Indeed, it is more than we estimated would be our share, as this was stated to be about an even 10,000.

Secretary Root said at a late hour to-night that he had not received any word from the military officials in China regarding the reported disaster to the Ninth regiment. Admiral Remey's dispatch, conveying a report of the disaster was the only word that came to the Navy Department np to a late hour and Mr. Wu, the minister, said to-night that he had not received anything of a news nature.

AMERICANS AND JAPS

Won the Honors in the Fighting at Tien Tsin on the 9th Inst.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, July 16.—The War Office to day issued a dispatch from General Dorward, dated Tien Tsin, July 11, which adds little to previous information. The Chinese, according to this dispatch, attacked the station the morning of July 11th and were repulsed after four hours' hard fighting, in which 500 of the enemy were killed.

On July 9 General Dorward, commanding a force of 100 Americans, 950 British and 400 Russians, and General Fukushima, commanding 1,000 Japanese, attacked the Chinese and captured their positions southwest of the city, killing 350 and capturing four guns. American and Japanese troops subsequently rushed and took the western arsenal.

General Dorward adds that the day's honors rested with the Americans and Japanese. There were no casualties among the Americans or the Russians.

McKINLEY IN WASHINGTON.

No Extra Session of Congress Yet Determined Upon—Not Yet Decided to Issue a Call for Troops.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CANTON, OHIO, July 16.—President McKinley left for Washington at 10.30 o'clock this evening. He journeyed in a special car attached to the regular Pennsylvania train. Only Secretary Cortelyou accompanied the President, who will attend to matters in connection with the Chinese situation and in the course of a few days expects to return to Canton. It can be stated with certainty that no extra session of Congress has yet been determined upon and that it has not been decided to issue a call for troops for service in China. The past eighteen hours brought the first tangible news from China for some time and it is the desire of the President to go over these reports with his official family. Upon this review will depend in a large measure the government's action in the immediate future.

President McKinley was greatly distressed over the reported losses to the American army and no effort was made to conceal the fact that he was much exercised over the reports which came to him during the day.
